

LIE GONET-MÉDEVILLE

Château Gilette Sauternes Crème de Tête

- One of the estates in the remarkable portfolio of Julie and Xavier Médeville, Château Gilette is a Sauternes property that has a centuries-old history.
- Since the post-WWII period, wines have routinely been aged for 15-25 years before release, much longer than is the standard.
- All aging takes place in concrete vats. No oak is used.
- Sauternes is also produced at Gilette's sister estate Château Le Justice. These wines come from younger vines and were aged for three years.
- Château Gilette has been referred to as a "unicorn wine" and is unique not only in Sauternes but in the world.

VINEYARDS & VITICULTURE

The Gilette vineyard is just over 4.5 hectares in the center of the village of Preignac, with vines planted back in 1930. The walled vineyard protects the grapes and allows for botrytis. No plots are pulled up and no vines replaced unless one-by-one, as the old plants die out. The oldest vines are almost all Sémillon and planted in the 1930s.

HARVEST & VINIFICATION

The grapes are pressed very gently, and the must goes straight into stainless steel vats where it is stored, without oxygenation, for 15 to 18 years. Then wine is bottled and held in the cellar for another three to five years before release. No oak casks or barrels are used for either fermentation or maturation. The wines are never chaptalized. In years when Château Gilette is not made, the grapes are sold off in bulk. Yields are minuscule and total production is around 5000 bottles a year.
